Order No. 2011-03

This Order is issued on this 20th day of May, 2011 for the purpose of requiring official/approved identification of sexually intact female cattle that leave the Brucellosis Designated Surveillance Area to facilitate compliance with other states' importation requirements. It is hereby ordered that:

All sexually intact female cattle regardless of age that leave the Brucellosis Designated Surveillance Area (DSA), except for cattle that temporarily leave the DSA for contiguous seasonal grazing purposes, and return to the DSA, are required to be individually identified with Board Approved Individual Identification as defined in the Board's Chapter 2 Vaccination Against and Surveillance for Brucellosis rules and such other Individual Identification approved by the Wyoming State Veterinarian.

No sexually intact cattle from the Designated Surveillance Area may leave the state on a G-Form.

All sexually intact female cattle that have moved to a Wyoming market on a G-Form shall have verification of compliance with this Individual Identification requirement at the market, and if not already identified shall be properly identified at the market.

This order is an addition to the identification requirements already found in Section 11 of the Chapter 2 rules.

These requirements are implemented to protect the health, viability, and marketability of the Wyoming cattle industry.

This Order is issued pursuant to Wyoming State Statute § 11-19-103. The State Veterinarian is directed to carry out this Order pursuant to § 11-19-101 effective May 20, 2011. This Order remains in effect until further notice.
